MEM MURPHY, formerly a salesman for Morehouse, Wells & Co., died of consumption in the West. His widow, who was a daughter of the late Rev. Barger, of DeWitt county, is in Chicago, employed in a meat gallery, and her sister, Mrs. Nona Barger, is giving music lessons in that city.

JOHN MAJES, formerly of this city, a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Majes, is the proprietor and owner of a drug store located in Chicago at the entrance to Jackson Park. The stock is estimated at $80,000. Recently he was offered $30,000 for his stock and house by a responsible party. The advance is due to the World's Fair being located at Jackson Park. It is not known whether Mr. Majes will accept it or not.

MAJES MURPHY, the noted Irish comedian, and the play, "O'Dowd's Neighbors," afforded a very fine entertainment at the Grand Saturday night. It was a comedy and opera combined, interspersed with pretty dances and songs. The costumes were varied and among the richest ever seen on the Deaturer stage. W. A. Patterson was given a flattering ovation. He sang a solo magnificently and received three hearty encores. The play was given entire and the company at 11:30 left for Cincinnati.

A DIVORCE FOR MRS. HISER.

Cases in the Circuit Court—Injunction Allowed in the Mason Case.

Judge Vall opened court this morning and proceeded to give his decision in the divorce and injunction case of Mary Hiser vs. Edward Hiser, which was on trial several days last week. The Judge reviewed the main points of the evidence which he pronounced conflicting. He intimated that the complaint was in the wrong in several instances, judging from the testimony offered, and said that the husband had brought in neighbors and friends to show that he was not as bad as painted by the complaint. On general principles, Mrs. Hiser was granted a divorce, and as to the money in the bank it was the conclusion of the Judge that it belonged to the father of the defendant. The order was a divorce, each side to pay individual costs, no fee allowed for solicitor, and defendant to pay $100 a year to Mrs. Hiser for support of the two children who will remain in her custody for the present.

INJUNCTION ALLOWED. Stephen G. Wilson and Robert Patterson vs. City of Mason et al; Injunction. Cases heard on bill, answer and replication proofs, exhibits, etc., and injunction allowed. Bond in sum of $500, with R. Woodstock as security, against removal and alienation in sum of $250, to be approved by clerk, by agreement; bond in 30 days, certificate of evidence in 30 days. This is a case to check the Mason city council in plans to put up water works building on ground alleged to belong to the Illinois Central Railroad company.

CHANCERY DOCKET. The Chancery docket was cleaned. Report of master approved. Decree. Sarah R. Smith vs. Sidney J. Phelps et al, Injunction. Motion to dissolve injunction overruled, save as to carrying. Clara K. McKee vs. Louis C. Cully, resp. Verdict for $500. Motion for new trial. Argument heard and motion overruled. Judgment for $500 on the verdict. Appeal prayer and allowed.

A MOTHER. Court then adjourned until 1:30 p. m. Monday, Dec. 7th.

HARRIS SENT UP FOR A YEAR.

Charles E. Harris, the young vocalist from New York, who was here with "The County Fair" company, and made a bad break last night when he was persuaded Louis O'Connell, a Deaturer girl of 15, to spend the night with him at a hotel, stood up in court this forenoon, and pleaded guilty to the indictment for abduction. An effort had been made to settle the case by marriage, but the father of the girl was obstinate. He would not give his consent, although it is said Louis was willing to wed Harris. The mother of the prisoner was in court when sentence was pronounced. Judge Vall said he had looked into the case, and he had come to the conclusion to make the sentence as light as the statutes would allow. He would make it lighter if he could. Harris was then sentenced to one year in the penitentiary. Mother and son wept freely as they took their seats.

Harris will go to Joliet to serve 10 months and Mrs. Harris will return to her husband and children in New York City.

HONORED.

Julius T. Westermann, a graduate of the Deaturer High School, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Westermann, of Lincoln, Neb., and brother of Mr. Charles Shroll, this city, now holds the important trust of cashier of the freight department of the Northern Pacific Railway Company at Seattle, Wash.

He was called to attend the reception tendered Mr. Henry Villard, given by Paul Schmitz in honor of the Eastern millionaire. The Seattle Telegraph says: "The two gentlemen (Mr. W. and Mr. V.) are related and thus is said to be their first meeting. Mr. Westermann stands high in the estimation of his company, and is much esteemed by his fellow employees."

Thrown From Her Horse.

Miss Lillie Linkins, who has been a member of the Jacob Troutman family at Troutman station, visited her father, Joseph Linkins, at Harrisburg on Sunday, making the trip on horseback.

Returning to Troutman in the evening Miss Linkins, who is 18 years of age, was thrown from her horse and was found lying in the road unconscious. She is now at the home of James Housman. It is expected that she will ultimately recover. The father and mother are with their daughter.

Ministers.

Rev. J. W. Crane preached for Rev. Wood on Sunday at Long Creek and Mt. Zion.

Rev. S. B. Pond has resigned the rectorship of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church at Bloomington, to go to Leavenworth, Kan.

The Glass Rater.

Joe Simms gives the first of three exhibitions to-night at the African Methodist Episcopal Church, where he will eat glass and knife blades with impunity. Several Deaturer physicians will be present to witness this remarkable feat. Joe will also crush glass with his bare feet. He is a wonder. Dr. Otto will be present to lecture on Pains.

Pain.

Can't say, but Ralph Templeton will give to each purchaser of 250 worth of Drugs, Medicine, Candies, Perfumes, etc., a glass of Pains, Blisters, etc., who mention this ad, and an elegant soap, Good for one week.

ENGINEER NOONAN INJURED.

A Miraculous Escape from a Terrible Death.

Engineer Peter Noonan, of the Wabash passenger train No. 4, which arrives in this city at 11 o'clock a. m. from St. Louis, had a narrow escape from a horrible death near Palmer Sunday morning. When near Palmer, which is a station below Taylorville, Noonan stepped over to the fireman's side of the cab of the engine and leaned out of the gangway to watch a "hot box" on one of the cars in his train. The fireman was busy at the time shoveling coal into the furnace and did not notice what Noonan was doing. Noonan then returned to the engine and struck his head on some protruding boards while the passenger was running at a good rate of speed and was knocked out of the cab to the ground between the coal chute and the wheels of the engine. When Noonan struck the ground he bounded back to the train, which threw him back again against the coal chute. The fireman did not notice the absence of Noonan until the train had gone almost a mile, when the train was run back to the point where Noonan was thought to have met with some accident. There they found him lying unconscious directly across the track, with several scalp wounds on his head. At first it was thought he was dead. He was taken to Taylorville, where Dr. Armstrong dressed his wounds. He was then brought to Deaturer and taken to his home at 421 Central Avenue, where Drs. Chownorth and Hueston were called. The doctors found it necessary to re-open and re-dress the scalp injuries. There were four large scalp wounds on the side of his head, the aggregate length of which was 15 inches, but fortunately there was no fracture of the skull. Aside from these injuries Noonan received a score of small bruises on his body. He is resting very quietly to day and will probably soon recover from the effects of the mishap.

Had the fireman not had this presence of mind to return alone to get Noonan the engine would have met certain death, for he was lying prone across the track and it was but a few minutes until the second St. Louis train, Passenger No. 44, was due to pass that point. In all Noonan may thank his lucky star, for not only did he escape getting under the train when he was bounding back and forward between the coal chute and car wheels, but he was picked up before he was horribly mangled under the wheels of the approaching train.

Lecture Course and Reception.

The Woman's Club Stock Company has arranged for a course of lectures to be given during the winter and spring. The first of the course will be given at the Woman's Club rooms Thursday evening, November 12, when Mrs. Celia P. Woolley, of Chicago, will lecture on "Tennyson, interspersed with musical selections and selections from Tennyson, rendered by some of our best home talent. Mr. Buzz will sing "Ring Out Wild Bells" and Miss Kniering will sing "Tears, Idle Tears." Mrs. Woolley was for two years president of the Chicago Woman's Club, and is now assistant editor of "Unity," of which Jenkin Lloyd Jones is senior editor, and in whose church she sometimes preaches. Mrs. Woolley comes highly recommended by those who have heard her as a most charming speaker, as well as a woman thoroughly posted on all live questions of the day. The lecture will be followed by a reception by the Woman's Club, so that an opportunity may be given to meet Mrs. Woolley. Next on the course will be Dr. Eggleston, so well-known and favorably known by his books, "Loser Schoolmaster," "The End of the World," etc., and by his last novel which has excited so much interest all over the country, "The Faith Doctor." On the subject of the life of the people of this country north and south, in "The Good Old Colony Time," Edward Eggleston is by general consent considered foremost authority; his popular history, "Old America," which he will give here in February, is filled with some of the most interesting and curious details gathered in many years of study of all attainable resources of information. As Prof. Loredo Tatt has all the scriptural traditions of the horticultural building (World's Fair) on his hands, he cannot fulfill his engagement for two lectures before spring. The first will be an illustrated lecture in clay modeling, creating form, and the second evening will be a lecture on classic or modern sculpture.

DIED.

At the home of her sister, Mrs. Alfred Baranoff, 310 West Main street, Nov. 6, died, after a long illness, Mrs. Christina Becker, aged 78 years and 6 months.

The deceased leaves six grown children.

Funeral services will be held at the family residence, No. 356 East Wood street, Sunday, Nov. 8, at 4 p. m. Nettle

The deceased was in her usual good health Saturday when she was taken ill. She was taken ill Sunday morning, and grew rapidly worse until death.

Two Fires.

At 2:30 o'clock this morning a summer kitchen attached to a home at the corner of North Broadway and Marietta streets caught fire and was partly consumed. Neighbors and friends by the prompt use of buckets and water saved the house, which is the property of Est. Flynn. The chemical responded to the call.

Fire broke out Saturday evening in the clothing department at Gophart's store on North Water street. Damage about $25. The department was at the scene.

Temperance.

Despite the threatening state of the weather Sunday afternoon there was a very large audience at the First M. E. Church to hear Mr. Dunn's address on temperance. The meeting continued until nearly 5 o'clock, and about every body remained to hear the last word and the last song. Mr. Dunn is awakening general interest in the cause. Speaking at the court house to-night he usual.

To Save Money.

You will find that the celebrated River-ton coal burns longer, keeps fire better at night, and it is the best coal for economy to use this quality of coal. The Mason County Coal Co. is also receiving large shipments of Pennsylvania hard coal, Office 424 North Main street; Branch office, East Eldorado street, Branch office 428, E. L. Martin, Pres't, G. E. Moeller, Sec. and Treas.
